Brief Description

The objective of this course is to survey the extended history of psychology by thoroughly examining the contributions of its parent disciplines, Western philosophy and the natural sciences, from ancient to modern times.

Textbook & Online Resource

Hothersall, D. (2004). History of Psychology (4th Edition). Toronto: McGraw-Hill.
Online Text Resource: www.mhhe.com/hothersall4

Important Notes

- A. All course related inquiries are to be directed to the instructor's email address listed on the first page. Please ensure that you put "PSYC85" in the subject line of every email to ensure that it is properly received.
- B. Every enrolled student must ensure that they have access to the U of T Portal. All course related content will be posted here (e.g., lecture slides, important announcements, and midterm grades).
- C. The prerequisites for this course are two "B" level half-courses in psychology or the instructor's permission.
- D. If a lecture is cancelled because of an unforeseen circumstance (e.g., unexpected illness), students are still responsible for the material that was to be discussed that day.
- E. If a student is absent from a midterm examination due to illness or other extenuating circumstance, they must contact the instructor as soon as possible. For medical reasons, students must use the University of Toronto Student Medical certificate. It can be downloaded on the UTSC website. Matters concerning the final examination are dealt with solely by the Registrar's office.
- F. For all examinations, you must bring your U of T student ID cards. You are also encouraged to bring a pencil and eraser to allow for making answer changes.

G. Students with a disability/health consideration are encouraged to approach me and the AccessAbility Services Office. You can also drop by their office, S302B, inside the Resource Centre. A coordinator is available by appointment to assess specific needs, provide referrals and arrange appropriate accommodations.

Grading Scheme

Your grade will be determined by a midterm examination, a final examination and a term paper.

Midterm Exam

- Worth 40% of your final grade.
- Administered in-class (June 19).
- 2 hours in length.
- 100 multiple-choice questions.
