Midterm Exam Date: Monday October 29, 2018

Quercus Usage:

Midterm grades will be posted in the Grade Book.

Please check the Quercus Announcements regularly to make sure you keep up to date with what's happening in the course.

Your term paper will be due on the last day of the term by midnight in an electronic format. Please keep all preliminary notes and materials that you use for the term paper.

Goals of the course:

The Imagination Institute of Philadelphia set out to objectively measure imagination and derive an Imagination Quotient. Their mandate to foster innovation encompassed different aspects of imagination including; creativity, prospective thought, counterfactual thinking, mental simulation, and so on, which might prove helpful in academic, health, corporate, or military settings. Such innovation can be facilitated by diverse psychological assets including curiosity, future-mindedness, openness to experience, optimism, perseverance, perspective, purpose, and wisdom.

The primary goal of this course is to develop an appreciation of the many ways that imagination is revealed in our lives and to learn how to use one's imagination in productive and expressive ways.

Evaluation:

- (1) Midterm test and Final exam, each with 50 multiple choice questions incorporating readings and lecture materials.
- (2) Twenty-page term paper worth 1/3 of your grade partly based on interviews related to a topic of interest to you about imagination. The format will be discussed in class.
- (3) There will also be exercises in our class which can lead to 5 bonus points in the final course grade.

Your final grade is based on: Midterm (1/3), Final Exam (1/3), and Term Paper (1/3). Students must take both exams and complete the term paper in order to receive a grade.

Missed Term Work due to Medical Illness or Other Emergency:

All students citing a documented reason for missed term work must bring their documentation to the Psychology Course Coordinator in SW427C within three (3) business days of the assignment due date. You must bring the following:

- (2.) Appropriate documentation to verify your illness or emergency, as described below.

Appropriate Documentation:

In the case of missed term work due to illness, only an original copy of the official UTSC Verification of Illness Form will be accepted (<http://uoft.me/UTSC-Verification-Of-Illness-Form>). Forms are to be completed in full, clearly indicating the start date, anticipated end date, and severity of illness. The physician's registration number and business stamp are required.

In the case of medical emergency, an original copy of the record of visitation to a hospital emergency room should be provided.

The Course Instructor should also be copied on this email.

For U of T Varsity athletic commitments, an email communication should be sent directly to the Course Coordinator (psychology-undergraduate@utsc.utoronto.ca) from a coach or varsity administrator, detailing the dates and nature of the commitment. The email should be sent well in advance of the missed work.

Within approximately one week, you will receive an email response from the Course Instructor / Course Coordinator detailing the accommodations to be made (if any). You are responsible for checking your official U of T email and Blackboard course announcements daily, as accommodations may be time-critical. The Course Instructor reserves the right to decide what accommodations (if any) will be made for the missed work.

Failure to adhere to any aspect of this policy may result in a denial of your request for accommodation.

Academic Integrity:

Academic integrity is essential to the pursuit of learning and scholarship in a university, and to ensuring that a degree from the University of Toronto is a strong signal of each student's individual academic achievement. As a result, the University treats cases of cheating and plagiarism very seriously. The University of Toronto's Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters

(<http://www.governingcouncil.utoronto.ca/Assets/Governing+Council+Digital+Assets/Policies/PDF/ppjun011995.pdf>) outlines the behaviours that constitute academic dishonesty and the processes for addressing academic offences. Potential offences include, but are not limited to:

In papers and assignments:

- Using someone else's ideas or words without appropriate acknowledgement;
- Submitting your own work in more than one course without the permission of the instructor;
- Making up sources or facts;
- Obtaining or providing unauthorized assistance on any assignment.

On tests and exams:

- Using or possessing unauthorized aids;
- Looking at someone else's answers during an exam or test;
- Misrepresenting your identity; and
- When you knew or ought to have known you were doing it.

In academic work:

- Falsifying institutional documents or grades;
- Falsifying or altering any documentation required by the University, including (but not limited to) doctor's notes; and
- When you knew or ought to have known you were doing so.

All suspected cases of academic dishonesty will be investigated following procedures outlined in the Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters. If students have questions or concerns about what constitutes appropriate academic behaviour or appropriate research and citation methods, they are expected to seek out additional information on academic integrity from their instructors or from other institutional resources.

Note:

You may see advertisements for services offering grammar help, essay editing and proof-reading. Be very careful. If these services take a draft of your work and significantly change the content and/or language, you may be committing an academic offence (unauthorized assistance) under the Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters.

It is much better and safer to take your draft to the Writing Centre as early as you can. They will give you guidance you can trust. Students for whom English is not their first language should go to the English Language Development Centre.

If you decide to use these services in spite of this caution, you must keep a draft of your work and any notes you made before you got help and be prepared to give it to your instructor on request.

TurnItIn

Normally, students will be required to submit their course essays to Turnitin.com for a review of textual similarity and detection of possible plagiarism. In doing so, students will allow their essays to be included as source documents in the Turnitin.com reference database, where they will be used solely for the purpose of detecting plagiarism. The terms that apply to the University's use of the Turnitin.com service are described on the Turnitin.com web site.
