Component	Weight
Class Participation	10%
Take-Home Essay Exam	30%
Group Presentations + Discussion + Op-Ed Article	30%
Final Paper	30%

Participation: This is an advanced undergraduate seminar in which enthusiastic class participation is important. Participation includes attendance, punctuality, facilitating discussion, paying careful attention to classmates' presentations and comments, showing respect for others' contributions, and offering constructive feedback, critical questions, and comments after each presentation. To help create a stimulating, safe, equitable discussion environment, each of you should try balance active listening with speaking and responding to others. There will be some regular pre-class and in-class activities (e.g., discussion boards and breakout rooms) to simulate engagement and reflection. These activities will be worth a small percent of your total class participation mark and you will be able to receive a maximum of 10%.

Group Presentation: Group presentation + facilitated discussion + Op-Ed article (30%)

- Group presentation + facilitated discussion (20%): The group presentation and facilitated discussion consists of a small-group slide presentation (8–10 minutes) to the class followed by a structured, group-facilitated class discussion (12–15 minutes) on an assigned topic related to human development. The topics represent issues of ongoing social relevance and debate. The group presentation will help you refine your public speaking skills, including clarity and thoughtfulness in discussing ideas and research findings, and your ability to develop a line of argument based on empirical evidence from the research literature. Each discussion group will be asked to submit their presentation slides as a PDF on Quercus by 11:59 pm on the day of their presentation.

- Op-Ed article (10%): The Op-Ed article is a writing assignment related to the group presentation and discussion. Each member of the group will be asked to submit a 500-word opinion piece that summarizes and draws upon scientific evidence to argue for a perspective on the topic presented and discussed by their group in class. Information about this assignment is on Quercus under Assignments. Op-Ed articles are due 1 week after the group presentation and discussion.

Take-Home Essay Exam (30%): For the seminar, you will be asked to write on two questions that critically integrate findings from the required readings. A rubric will be provided on Quercus for this assignment over Reading Week. The essays will be due on Feb 21.

Final Paper (30%): Your final paper will be an integration of your impressions and critical evaluation of 3 out of 5 of the class presentations not including your own. Additional details about this paper will be provided after Reading Week.

Potential offences include, but are not limited to:

- On tests and exams: (a) Using or possessing unauthorized aids; (b) Looking at someone else's answers during an exam or test; (c) Misrepresenting your identity.
- In academic work: (a) Falsifying institutional documents or grades; (b) Falsifying or altering any documentation required by the University, including (but not limited to) doctor's notes.

All suspected cases of academic dishonesty will be investigated following procedures outlined in the Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters.

- • If your desired accommodation is within the scope of your Accommodation Letter (ex. your letter includes “extensions of up to 7 days” and you need 3 days):
 1. Complete the Request for Missed Term Work Accommodations Form (http://uoft.me/PSY- MTW).

1. Contact your AccessAbility consultant and have them email Keely Hicks (keely.hicks@utoronto.ca) detailing the accommodations required.

After submitting your documentation:

Within approximately one to five business days, you will receive a response from your instructor detailing the accommodations to be made (if any).

You are responsible for checking your official U of T email and Quercus course announcements daily, as accommodations may be time-critical.

You should continue to work on your assignments to the best of your ability, as extension accommodations may be as short as one business day, depending on the nature of the illness/emergency.

If an accommodation has been granted but you are unable to meet the conditions of the accommodation (ex. you need a longer extension, or you missed a make-up test), you will need to repeat the missed term work procedure and submit additional forms to request further accommodation. Note that in the case of a missed make-up test, an opportunity to write a second make-up test may not be provided.

Completion of this form does not guarantee that accommodations will be made. The course instructor reserves the right to decide what accommodations (if any) will be made. Failure to adhere to any aspect of this policy may result in a denial of your request for accommodation.

Missed Accommodations

If an accommodation is granted but a continued illness/emergency prevents you from meeting the requirements of your accommodation, you must repeat the missed term work procedure to request additional accommodations.

(E.g.) If you miss a make-up midterm, you would need to submit another Request for Missed Term Work Accommodations form and declare your extended absence on ACORN.

Importance of Three Business Day window:

If you are unable to submit your documents within the three business day window, you must email Keely (keely.hicks@utoronto.ca) within the three business day window to explain the nature of the delay, and when you will be able to provide your documents. Exceptions to the documentation deadline will only be made under exceptional circumstances.

Questions?

If you have any questions about this Missed Term Work policy, please contact Keely Hicks (keely.hicks@utoronto.ca) well before the date of the test / assignment deadline to describe your circumstances and inquire about procedures.
